Investor Education in times of High Inflation, Financial Repression & Market Volatility

A joint webinar on 23 March 2023 @ 16h00 CET

For this year's edition of Global Money Week (GMW), EFAMA and BETTER FINANCE have teamed up with the European Youth Parliament to jointly organise a webinar on investor education to help young citizens benefit from capital markets and support sustainable development in times of high inflation, financial repression, and market volatility.

The main goal of the event will be to discuss whether the new macroeconomic environment requires the authorities and private sector actors to take some new specific initiatives in the area of investor education and financial literacy to help keep society on the path to achieving sustainability goals and address the concerns of the younger generation about rising prices, market volatility and the merits of investing in capital markets.
